This 29 item standardized rating scale was developed from the most frequent problems identified by teachers. It assists specialists to identify and rate specific pin-pointed problem behaviors for evaluation purposes, behavioral interventions and/or individual educational programs. The rating scale was normed on randomly selected students and has subscales which assist specialists in differential diagnosis. The research studies documenting the rating scale's excellent reliability ($\alpha=.94$, test-retest=.98) and strong validity are described in the manual.
